Dear Tony,

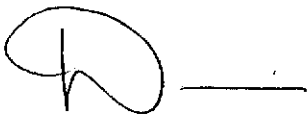

I wanted to take this opportunity to thank you for all of your hard work and efforts with this year's Louisville Manufactured Housing Show. There is no doubt that the combination of your online promotion and building our new website made a significant difference in our attendance.

Your overall approach with MHProNews.com has gotten our message out to more people each year. We had over 300 attendee increase from last year. We saw an increase in attendance in all categories, Builder/Developers, Community Owners/Operators, Retailers, and Installers.

We would gladly recommend your services to others looking to grow their online presence and results.

I appreciate all you did for us this year and look forward to a long standing relationship.

Best Personal Regards,
