

Trading in the American Nightmare for the American Dream. A Call to Democrats-Independents-Republicans-Non Voters-Big Media-Corporations. True vs. Faux America First. Facts-Evidence-Analysis

You don't have to use the harsh language of the late George Carlin to grasp that for millions his point that you have to be asleep to believe the American Dream because millions are living the American Nightmare. People want to believe in the American Dream. One problem is there have been literally decades of sellouts of American employees and independent businesses by certain corporate and special interests.

Millions no longer automatically trust the media or politicians.

The demonization of opponents carries risks. We must start with a recognition of our common humanity. We must see that God made us in the Divine Image so we should not treat each other like animals.

Let's review some basic facts and evidence. Let's apply some common-sense analysis and logic (Facts-Evidence-Analysis-Logic=FEAL). Because we are closer to real solutions than millions might think.

First, while some in both major parties and certain special interests are to blame for the problematic state of affairs, we are unlikely to arrest, take to trial and then jail everyone responsible. Nor should vigilantes take matters into their own hands. God will deal with those who wittingly betrayed their fellow countrymen. There will be both true justice and true mercy that literally everyone witness. This is a Divine promise we can trust. That's not to say we should ignore good laws. It is to say we must focus on fixing what has gone wrong quickly.

So, let's understand some basics.

There Ain't No Such Thing as a Free Lunch (TANSTAAFL).

A nation needs borders and a government that enforces borders. Thankfully some across the left-right divide have said that a nation needs borders and an orderly system of immigration and visa enforcement.

An artificial intelligence (AI) and robotics revolution is underway.

If Americans aren't careful Communist China will win that AI revolution.

Energy must power that emerging economy.

William “Bill” Gates III recently admitted the so-called climate crisis has been overstated.

Communist China has been building coal and nuclear power plants. India is not far behind China. The U.S. must do similarly and rapidly.

Building power plants rapidly will create good jobs that can help replace jobs being lost.

We Americans do not want to become vassals or slaves to any communist or other authoritarian government.

It was announced that the Key Bridge in Baltimore will take billions of dollars and years more to build than was originally estimated. That’s cronyism and corruption hiding in plain sight.

During World War II Americans built the Pentagon in 16 months. During World War II American engineers built bridges in short order. We built bombers and fighter aircraft rapidly. We built tanks and artillery, guns and munitions, transport vehicles. We also built housing faster too. What happened?

We have allowed our nation to be regulated into a terrible corner.

Regulations and so-called ‘red tape’ has been choking our society. We need fewer but more honest people in government. Those people in government need to be humble ‘civil servants.’

Bad government must give way to good government that costs less while allowing and doing more.

The American Enterprise Institute (AEI) has called for light touch zoning. Some of what they are calling for is common sense. What they are perhaps missing is a need to make way for more factory built homes.

The ROAD to Housing Act 2025 will not work as advertised. The Manufactured Housing Association for Regulatory Reform (MHARR) has detailed and proposed two amendments that could dramatically improve an otherwise terrible bill that may sound good to some but will fail if not amended as MHARR suggests. Third party AI has confirmed the facts-evidence-analysis-logic (FEAL) of those statements.

We must stop believing in lies and half-truths (paltering-posturing-propaganda). We the People must learn to spot lies and half-truths as they are being told to us by people who mean to mislead us long enough to cause us to lose our God-given and constitutionally protected rights as Americans.

There is nothing we can't build ourselves right here in the U.S. tariffs are common sense. Tariffs are meant to protect American jobs and businesses. If we are wise we can do away with the personal income tax through tariffs. We can't save time and money by getting rid of the personal income tax system and going back to a smaller government paid for by tariffs.

We need a monetary system that doesn't drive us into debt bondage or slavery.

The United States of America (USA) can't save the world. But we can create an America that other nations can copy so that they can save themselves from bad or corrupt governments.

We need the fruits of honest and sincere faith. America's founders said that our system of government would only work for a moral people. We must strive day by day to become and remain that moral society led by God-given light. That is how freedom is achieved. Not everyone needs the biggest house, vehicle, or television. We can create a society where millions more can become owners of modern manufactured homes by unleashing laws that already exist. The math supports building potentially millions of modern inherently affordable manufactured homes. The math doesn't support endless subsidies when we are already some $38 trillion in debt. We have the potential energy. We can access the needed raw materials. With honesty and good stewardship, we can rebuild the American Dream. People can live in dignity in homes that they own. Neighbors can live in Godly peace and a reasonable level of prosperity. That's achievable. That's what we should aim to accomplish.
