Affordability-Housing-Campaigns. AOC Edging Out JD Vance. Pres Trump National Address Hits Incomes-Costs-Housings-Interest Rates. 'Wages Up-Prices Down-Rates Will be Going Lower.' MHVille FEA

Housing related costs are a hot potato for millions of Americans and are thus part of the political-economic-media/psychological battle for 2026 and 2028. According to Real Clear Politics (RCP) on the morning of 12.18.2025 at about 7:16 AM ET: "Trump Job Approval: FOX: 44% | Quinnipiac: 40% | CNBC: 45% | RCP Avg: 43.6%" From the same site's morning edition on 12.17.2025: "Generic: CNBC: D+4 | Morning Consult: D+1 | Quinnipiac: D+4 | RCP Avg: D+3.0." That polling summarizes why Democrats are pressing on "affordability" and why President Donald J. Trump (R), Vice President J.D. Vance (R) and Republicans in general are all busy trying to win the messaging wars ahead of the 2026 midterms. Digging deeper, even though Alexandria Ocasio Cortez (AOC-DS) is not currently leading in Democratic party presidential nomination polling, one poll shows AOC (D) beating J.D. Vance (R). AOC laughingly said she would "stomp" Vance in 2028. That noted, AOC is #5 among Democrats, per the polling shown below. So, the picture is far from clear cut. Indeed, why should it be? Barring the unforeseen, President Trump has a little over 3 years to go in his term in the Oval Office. Which brings us in this MHProNews MHVille facts-evidence-analysis (FEA) to the President's national address on 12.17.2025.

A common and apt disclaimer for keen political observers is that polling this far out can obviously shift. It doesn't take a political science degree to see that if AOC (D) has edged J.D. Vance (R) - the later who at this point seems to be the likely 2028 GOP presidential contender - and given Kamala Harris (D) loss, and 'baggage' problems faced by several of their other named Democratic contenders, that it would be no surprise if AOC steadily rises in the poll as 2028 approaches. On an interesting note, 3 of the 7 Democrats named in that poll above are women. Two of the last four Democratic nominees since the 2016 campaign season were women.

2) The left-leaning The Hill said the following on 12/09/25.

...according to a new Harvard CAPS/Harris poll, an uptick from last month as Americans weathered a record-long government shutdown.

The figure has hovered around 40 percent since the start of Trump's second term but dropped to 35 percent last month before recovering to 39 percent in the latest survey. Another 52 percent think the country is on the wrong track, down 2 points from last month.

While that sounds bad, and it obviously isn't what GOP leadership would hope for, to frame that data, just before the 2024 election left-leaning ABC News said the following.

Two-thirds of Americans say that the country is "pretty seriously off on the wrong track," while just under a third say the country is moving in the right direction, according to an ABC News/Washington Post/Ipsos poll conducted using Ipsos' KnowledgePanel.

Overall, Americans seem unhappy and anxious, with a slim majority saying the economy has gotten worse since President Donald Trump took office and majorities saying that both major parties and the president are out of touch. A majority of Americans are also growing increasingly concerned over the government shutdown.

Far more Democrats (95%) and independents (77%) say the country is "pretty seriously off on the wrong track" than Republicans (29%), along with larger shares of Black (87%), Hispanic (71%) and Asian (71%) Americans than white Americans (61%). Majorities of Americans in urban, suburban and rural areas say the country is moving in the wrong direction, as well as those with varying levels of education and income.

3) Restated, polling has moved more towards the "right track" from 13 months ago per the results shown above, even though the GOP still trails on the generic ballot. Leaders in both major parties are pointing fingers and are scrambling for the messaging high ground. While staples like food, fuel, healthcare, and utilities are high on people's minds, so too is housing costs.

4) As the Manufactured Housing Association for Regulatory Reform (MHARR) reported earlier this week, some 75 percent of the U.S. housing is "unaffordable." In the report linked here and further below, the Manufactured Housing Institute \(MHI\) was oddly silent about that unaffordability in housing topic.

The MHVille FEA is underway.

'Stronger Than Ever Before': 4 Highlights From Trump's Speech Showcasing 2025 Accomplishments

Elizabeth Troutman Mitchell | December 17, 2025

President Donald Trump touted his 2025 accomplishments in a national address Wednesday night.

"Tonight, after 11 months, our border is secure, inflation is stopped, wages are up, prices are down, our nation is strong, America is respected, and our country is back," he said, "Stronger than ever before. We're poised for an economic boom the likes of which the world has never seen."

1. Lowering Prices

Trump said the Biden administration "looted the Treasury," driving up prices, but he is bringing them down.

"Under the Biden administration, car prices rose 22% and in many states 30% or more. Gasoline rose 30 to 50%, hotel rates rose 37%, airfares rose 31%," he said. "Now under our leadership, they are all coming down and coming down fast."

Trump is also solving the price of groceries, he said.

"The price of a Thanksgiving turkey was down 33% compared to the Biden last year. The price of eggs is down 82% since March, and everything else is falling rapidly, and it's not done yet," he said. "But boy, are we making progress."

Wages are going up much faster than inflation, Trump said. He said tariffs are to thank for record investments, leading to jobs, in America.

TRUMP: 100% of All Net Job Creation Has Gone To Native-Born Americans

— The Daily Signal (@DailySignal) December 18, 2025

"I've secured a record breaking $18 trillion of investment into the United States, which means jobs, wage increases, growth, factory openings and far greater national security," he said. "Much of this success has been accomplished by tariffs, my favorite word tariffs, which for many decades have been used successfully by other countries against us, but not anymore. Companies know that if they build in America, there are no tariffs, and that's why they're coming home to the USA in record numbers."

2. Securing the Border

According to Trump, the worst thing President Joe Biden did was open the border, but he has secured it.

"Our border was open, and because of this, our country was being invaded by an army of 25 million people, many who came from prisons and jails, mental institutions and insane asylums," he said.

"Starting on day one, I took immediate action to stop the invasion of our southern border," he continued. "For the past seven months, zero illegal aliens have been allowed into our country, I think, which everyone said was absolutely impossible."

Trump said America didn't need legislation to secure the border, just a new president.

"We inherited the worst border anywhere in the world, and we quickly turned it into the strongest border in the history of our country," he said.

Trump said his administration has cracked down on cartels which smuggled drugs across the border.

"They decimated the bloodthirsty foreign drug cartels," he said. "We did that all by ourselves, with our people, and we're so proud of it, because they were poisoning and destroying our population."

3. Ending Eight Wars in 10 Months

"I've restored American strength, settled eight wars in 10 months, destroyed the Iran nuclear threat and ended the war in Gaza, bringing for the first time in 3000 years, peace to the Middle East, and secured the release of the hostages, both living and dead," Trump said.

Trump touted his reforms to the U.S. military during his first year. He announced that members of military will receive "warrior dividends" of $1,776 in honor of the nation's founding, saying the "checks are on the way."

"Nobody deserves it more than our military, and I say congratulations, everybody," he said. "And by the way, we now have record enlistment in our military, and last year, we had among the worst recruitment numbers in our military's history."

4. Passing One Big Beautiful Bill Act

Trump said tax cuts for working families under his "One, Big Beautiful Bill" will yield massive tax refunds this spring.

"Under these cuts, many families will be saving between $11,000 and $20,000 a year, and next spring is projected to be the largest tax refund season of all time because of tariffs, along with the just passed One Big, Beautiful Bill," he said. "Next year, you will also see the results of the largest tax cuts in American history that were really accomplished through our great Big, Beautiful Bill, perhaps the most sweeping legislation ever passed in Congress."

Trump said the bill included 12 bills wrapped up in one, including no tax on tips, no tax on overtime, and no tax on Social Security.

Part II

In no particular order of importance are the following.

1) President Trump (R) signaled going into the fall that he may declare a national housing emergency. That formal announcement did not happen. Nevertheless, it stands as a reminder that Trump has obviously been aware of the importance of the issue.

[caption id="attachment_220103" align="aligncenter" width="600"]

2) In fairness, the facts clearly reflect that the Biden-Harris (D) Administration and its HUD Secretary Marcia Fudge (D) failed to enforce the "enhanced preemption" provision of the Manufactured Housing Improvement Act, as was also true of preceding administrations of both major parties.

'Seeking the Alignment of the Manufactured Housing Industry with President Trump's and HUD Secretary Scott Turner's Vision of Affordable Homeownership'

Despite a face-to-face meeting with HUD Secretary Turner, there has been no apparent movement with respect to enhanced preemption enforcement. That noted, unlike MHARR, the Manufactured Housing Institute (MHI) has made no apparent fact-to-face effort by MHI to get enhanced preemption enforced.

4) Not to diminish MHI's responsibility for their optics-heavy performance-light behavior as documented by four different AI systems, objectively it must be noted that regulators and public officials are part of the problem. Which is why periodic looks into the political-economic-media/psychological efforts are warranted. HUD's own researchers have said that for over 50 years, both major parties have known the underlying causes and cures to the housing crisis without enforcing steps that would impact the root causes.

5) As MHPProNews reported earlier this week, the difference between MHI's reporting in December 2025 vs. that of MHARR is stark.

The image displays a collage of documents related to the Manufactured Housing Association for Regulatory Reform (MHARR). The central document is the 'MHARR WASHINGTON UPDATE' dated December 16, 2025. It is divided into several sections: 'REGULATORY UPDATES' discussing the American Rescue Viewpoint (ARV) and the Infrastructure and Jobs Act (IJA), 'POLICY ANALYSIS' regarding the regulatory partnership with the state and housing industry, 'Industry Events' listing various seminars and conferences, and a 'Member Spotlight' featuring the 'Member Spotlight' and 'Member Spotlight'.

6) With too few serious (vs. posturing) manufactured housing advocates, is it any wonder that there is a housing crisis? The math is clear. Without millions of more HUD Code manufactured homes, the affordable housing crisis can't be solved. That's the takeaway from over 5 decades of historic and lived experiences.

8) While the steps being taken by the Trump-Vance Administration may be reducing housing costs and bringing down interest rates while increasing incomes, the potential breakthrough move is to enforce existing laws. That has been the consistent argument of MHARR and some others.
