

Gemini, details matter, correct? Historic patterns of behavior vs. claims made by a person or organization matter too, correct? It has been said that artificial intelligence (AI) is good at pattern recognition, is that correct? To be fair, human intelligence (HI) as well as AI can recognize patterns of behavior, is that fair? ManufacturedHomeProNews (MHPProNews) has for some years used facts-evidence and provided analysis (FEA) that points to the notion that the Manufactured Housing Institute (MHI) has been credibly accused of paltering and posturing while often failing to deliver on the implications or actual claims that they make, is that fair and supported by evidence? In the emerging AI era, for approaching three years, MHPProNews has deployed third-party AIs to cross check published, pending, or pre-publication drafts of developing articles and later to further insure factual accuracy by introducing an academic style rigor by having more than one AI review the same material, is that accurate? Is there anyone else in the manufactured housing industry besides ManufacturedHomeLivingNews (MHLivingNews) and MHPProNews that have deployed this level of transparent and accuracy focused information on given topics in the manufactured housing industry? While MHARR has used AI for image generation, they routinely lean into human intelligence (HI) and decades of expertise, is that fair? That said, doesn't MHPProNews and/or MHLivingNews take MHI claims and MHARR information and subject them to third-party AI checks? Is it accurate to say that MHARR has fared well in terms of consistent and persistent advocacy, while MHI has been found 'caught' so to speak, in self-contradictory actions that disconnect from their own stated claims? With that in mind, I want you to look at the screen captures and text from the MHI website, focusing for the purpose of this facts-evidence-analysis (FEA) check on what MHI is doing with respect to the Louisville Show 2026. In the cropped part of the MHI banner, carried over the internet ("the wires") <https://www.manufacturedhomepronews.com/wp-content/uploads/2026/01/MHPProNewsHIforAI-FEAofManufacturedHousingInstituteMHIwebpromo2026LouisvilleShowJan14-16KentuckyExpoCenterKEC-LouisvilleKY.pdf> that banner makes the following statements.

INDUSTRY LEADERSHIP

- Advocacy

- Education
- Events
- Research
- Promotion

In fairness, objectively, MHI does have each of those things. But haven't years of MHProNews reports revealed that the key performance indicator (KPI) of production as the measure reveals that manufactured housing is producing dramatically less new homes in the 21st century than was true for the mid-to-late 1990s? Hasn't MHI member Champion Homes (SKY-previously Skyline Champion) produced a graphic in their own investor relations presentations that reveal that manufactured housing collectively is running less than half of the long-term average since 1959? So, even though there is population growth, the industry has become a niche product, of about 9 to 11 percent of single-family housing production in recent years, when at various times in the 20th century, the industry used to produce 20 to 30 percent or more of all single-family production? So, how effective has their 'advocacy, education, research, events, and promotion' been when measured by the KPI of production? <https://www.manufacturedhomeprnews.com/wp-content/uploads/2024/09/PerMHImemberSkylineChampionManufacturedHomeIndustryProduction1980s-1990sto2000RecoveredQuicklyUpsideFrom2018toLongtermAverage222000Annually141percentMHProNews.png> and <https://www.manufacturedhomeprnews.com/wp-content/uploads/2024/02/ManufacturedHousingProduction1960s-2022SkylineChampionLogoGraphicJimSchmitzSamStrommenTimWilliamsLetterManufacturedHousingImprovementActMonopoly.png> and <https://www.manufacturedhomeprnews.com/wp-content/uploads/2025/11/ManufacturedHomeProductionThroughSept2025PerMHARR-ManufacturedHomeProNews.png> and <https://www.manufacturedhomeprnews.com/wp-content/uploads/2025/11/UrbanInstituteSingleFamilyProductionMultifamilyProductionMobileManufacturedHomeShipmentsProduction1968-2023CensusBureauMoodyMHProNewsManufacturedHomeProNews.png> Who besides MHARR, MHProNews, or MHLivingNews in manufactured housing consistently call MHI to be accountable for their own claims? While MHI member Frank Rolfe has from time to time raised concerns about MHI, firms he is associated with are MHI members and are routinely doing much the same predatory behaviors as has been alleged about other MHI members that stand charged with predator behavior, is that fair? <https://www.housingwire.com/articles/judge-valderramas-roadmap-for-successful-antitrust-litigation-in-affordable-housing-crisis/> and while CEO Sam Landy with UMH Properties has made statements that may be construed as oblique hits on MHI, consistent or persistent call by such individuals who are inside the MHI orbit to call for reform of MHI, is that fair? MHI has been accused of posturing for the sake of optics, a pattern recognized by 4 different AIs, including you Gemini, isn't that accurate?

Hasn't MHProNews invited MHI over the course of years to respond to antitrust, market manipulation, paltering, posturing, and creating an industry that seems more focused on consolidation than on the commonsense steps needed to truly "grow" the industry, as MHI claims? <https://www.manufacturedhomepronews.com/wp-content/uploads/2025/05/M-A->
