

Grok, on MHProNews and MHLivingNews, there are what might be described as 6 new developments from various sources that will follow that directly impact manufactured housing and which often have a reflection on the Manufactured Housing Institute (MHI). While I'm going to give you 7 links further below, 2 of those are essentially on a related topic (the purportedly thwarted by MHI plan to mimic the RVIA's GoRVing effort for the manufactured housing industry) (A); thus 6 topics or 'developments.' B) MHI's behavior toward pending legislation (dealt with by MHARR's Mark Weiss). C) The document on MHI's letterhead to the Maine legislature (on MHLivingNews). D) Murex 'flipping' – so to speak – in the amended antitrust case that seems to point the finger at MHI far more specifically than in that case's first pleading. E) Janet Thome's insights on the intersection of tiny house and manufactured housing in the ICC 1215 matter. The last goes to a kind of credibility issue in MHVille, F) David Dunn-Rankin's hat tip to L. A. "Tony" Kovach and manufactured housing, which indirectly brings up several questions: why isn't MHI routinely addressing and debunking or praising as needed some of the same topics Dunn-Rankin did in his op-ed? Dunn-Rankin's commentary also calls to mind Ainvest calling MHProNews/MHLivingNews "the gold standard" of reporting in manufactured housing <https://www.manufacturedhomepronews.com/per-ainvest-gold-standard-reporting-unpacks-ainvest-on-cavco-industries-acquires-american-homestar-a-strategic-play-for-dominance-in-undervalued-manufactured-housing/>, which essentially 4 other AIs (counting you, Gemini) validating the facts-evidence-analysis (FEA) provided by those co-founder Kovach linked platforms.

With that background, I'd like you to do the following.

Then, do a 'mashup,' so to speak, of those 6 topics and how the Murex 'flipping' may be pivotal in exposing a purported antitrust conspiracy to thwart manufactured housing industry growth by MHI and several corporate insiders that witnessed a roughly 70 percent drop in the number of new manufactured homes being produced in the 21st century when compared to the mid-to-late 1990s despite favorable legislation and a growing population and need for affordable housing. Given the long running content by MHProNews that apparent antitrust concerns exist in manufactured housing that appear to involve multiple 'leading members' of MHI and that association, one might think that hard evidence that mitigates against that concern might have emerged in the last 9 years. But isn't it fair and accurate to say that the evidence appears to be growing since 2017? That the growing evidence often involves documents from MHI and its own members? Multiple sources (attorneys, antitrust-focused economists, industry pros, affordable housing advocates, etc.) have directly or indirectly echoed MHProNews/MHLivingNews reporting, correct? Those revised pleadings in Case #1:23-cv-06715 seem to have multiple references to items previously published by MHProNews that were not in their original pleadings, is that a fair observation supported by clear evidence?

Then, one might think that Murex saying they have 'settled' and will supply documents and testimony to help those antitrust plaintiffs, isn't that a potential tipping point for that growing pile of evidence and the patterns of behavior by MHI where they pay lip service for the sake of optics, is that fair and supported by evidence? Scan those reports. Check it against any competing online records. Then produce a succinct roughly 800-word overview of how those topics and developments intersect. If you want to weigh in on Gemini's take (uploaded to you), feel free to do so. Correct, confirm or clarify as warranted by evidence you find online. Those 7 specific articles in question follow.

Have those various reports been properly 'vetted,' so to speak, by transparently disclosed third-party AI checks, in some cases, involving you? How do those reports stand up to the broader online record? Meaning, has anyone attempted to debunk or directly respond to those reports? What is the relevance of the purported MHI 'echo chamber' to Gemini's take that "If the Murex documents confirm that trade meetings were used to facilitate "supracompetitive" rent hikes, the "optics" of MHI's advocacy will likely be exposed as a cover for a massive antitrust scheme." Use plain text hyperlinks to support your findings.

The goal is to create a factually accurate, supported by evidence, roughly 800 word overview that others may find useful to get a better sense of why manufactured housing is underperforming in the 21st century.

Gemini1.29.2026Q-A-MHProNewsO...

The manufactured housing industry continues to underperform in the 21st century, producing roughly 100,000 units annually in recent years (e.g., 2020–2024 average ~101,000) despite a growing U.S. population, persistent affordable housing shortages, and favorable federal legislation like the 2000 Manufactured Housing Improvement Act. This represents a sharp decline from mid-to-late 1990s peaks of 300,000+ units (e.g., 372,843 in 1998), a roughly 70% drop when adjusted for historical highs, with post-2008 lows around 50,000 units in 2009–2010 and no sustained return to prior levels.¹²

Recent developments on MHProNews and MHLivingNews highlight interconnected barriers, often reflecting on the Manufactured Housing Institute (MHI)'s role. MHARR's Mark Weiss critiques MHI for prioritizing non-urgent issues (e.g., optional removable chassis in the ROAD to Housing Act) over core suppressants like discriminatory zoning (unresolved via enhanced preemption) and Duty to Serve (DTS) chattel financing gaps (Fannie Mae/Freddie Mac non-implementation for ~70% of loans, leading to higher rates and fewer buyers).³ Whistleblower tips and analyses accuse MHI leadership (e.g., CEO Lesli Gooch) of torpedoing growth efforts, favoring consolidators (e.g., "Big Three" producers: Clayton Homes, Cavco Industries, Champion Homes, Inc.) and large community operators over broader industry expansion.⁴

MHI's opposition to resident-owned communities (ROCs) appears in a Maine legislature letter/testimony by Gooch, labeling them "risky schemes" that deter investment—framed as part of claimed monopolization protecting investor-owned parks.⁵ Janet Thome (Tiny House Alliance USA) warns ICC 1215 standards threaten HUD Code homes and tiny artisans by favoring big corporate interests through over-regulation and certification barriers.⁶

David Dunn-Rankin's op-ed debunks misconceptions (e.g., "white trash" stigma, property value drops—citing UGA study showing 90% wrong perception—and crime/tax fears), praising manufactured homes as unsubsidized solutions while tipping his hat to L.A. "Tony" Kovach for advocacy. It questions why MHI fails to routinely counter such myths, despite AlInvest and multiple AIs (including Grok, Gemini, Copilot, ChatGPT) validating MHIProNews/MHILivingNews as "gold standard" for FEA reporting.⁷⁸

The pivotal development is the Murex Properties settlement in Case No. 1:23-cv-06715 (In re Manufactured Home Lot Rents Antitrust Litigation), with cooperation provisions (documents/testimony) informing the Second Amended Complaint (January 26, 2026). This bolsters allegations of direct competitor communications beyond Datacomp JLT reports, post-acquisition rent hikes/deterioration, and ~45 mentions of "Unnamed Co-Conspirators" (potentially encompassing MHI for trade meetings/events as collusion opportunities). MHI is named explicitly for such facilitation; several defendants (e.g., ELS, Sun Communities) are/were MHI members/board-linked.⁹¹⁰¹¹

Since MHIProNews raised antitrust concerns in 2017 (e.g., consolidation, "Moat" strategies, data practices), evidence has grown—often from MHI/members' documents/statements—echoed by attorneys, economists, advocates, and insiders. Revised pleadings echo prior MHIProNews themes (e.g., consolidation advantages, suppression via zoning/DTS inaction, MHI-linked coordination) absent in originals, following the court's "roadmap." Murex's flip (cooperation amid settlement) could be a tipping point, exposing patterns of "lip service" advocacy (optics) masking suppression—aligning with Gemini's view that confirmed trade-meeting use for supracompetitive hikes would reveal MHI advocacy as antitrust cover.

These intersect as systemic barriers (zoning, financing, misconceptions, standards threats, consolidation) suppress supply amid demand, benefiting insiders while underperforming. No direct MHI debunk/responses found; reports vetted via transparent AI checks (including Grok/Gemini). MHI's "echo chamber" (selective advocacy, member dominance) reinforces Gemini's take: potential revelations could expose optics as scheme facade.
