Pre-publication draft for submission to third-party artificial intelligence (AI) for facts-evidence-analysis (FEA) check for a developing report on MHProNews

Time Sensitive! Polls vs. AMAC Supplied Data. Plenty of GOOD Reasons that Matter to YOU for VOTING if You've Not Already Voted. Plus, the Sunday Weekly MHVille Headlines in Review. FEA

According to AMAC here: "David Catron is a Senior Editor at the American Spectator." Catron's article: "The Under-the-Radar Trend That Should Have Democrats Concerned." Catron's subheading: "Mail-in voting is plummeting in battleground states. That might be bad news for Democrats hoping for big victories..." Catron cited some examples and linked up his data sources. "In the 2022 midterms, for example, about 1 in 3 Democrats voted by mail compared to about 1 in 6 Republicans. In the current cycle, however, Democrat requests for mail-in ballots have decreased dramatically." Per Catron: "In Iowa, the U.S. Senate race between Rep. Ashley Hinson (R-IA) and state Rep. Josh Turek could decide which party controls the Senate." In Iowa, "in 2022, Democrats had requested 186,133 ballots. This year, they had requested only 74,432. That's a decrease of 111,701—a 60 percent plunge. In fact, total early votes of all types cast by the Democrats in Iowa declined to 105,774 this election cycle."

Catron said, "In Georgia, the U.S. Senate race between Democrat incumbent Sen. Jon Ossoff and former GOP Congressman Mike Collins is another crucial race." Elaborating: "in Georgia was October 23. In 2022, 271,434 ballots were requested. This year, 157,545 ballots were requested, 42 percent less. Most of these "missing" early voters are almost certainly Democrats."

"In Ohio, the U.S. Senate race between Republican Sen. Jon Husted and former Democrat Sen. Sherrod Brown is yet another crucial midterm contest this cycle. Applications for absentee ballots have decreased compared to 2022, when 1,000,669 ballots were requested. This cycle, only 713,097 ballots have been requested, a 29 percent drop."

In Minnesota: "Democrat Lieutenant Gov. Peggy Flanagan is facing a serious challenge from Michele Tafoya, a former journalist and sports broadcaster with high name recognition. The RealClearPolitics average of polls shows Flanagan with a small lead, but a slump in mail-in ballot requests may spell trouble. In 2022, there were 741,738 ballot requests. This cycle there were only 447,340 requests, 40 percent less."

In Kansas: "The Sunflower State last elected a Democrat to the U.S. Senate in 1932, but incumbent GOP Senator Roger Marshall is struggling to fend off a challenge from Democrat Adam Hamilton, a Methodist megachurch pastor. Marshall hangs on to a microscopic lead according to the RealClearPolitics average, but a decline in Democrat ballot requests may save him. In 2022, Kansas voters requested 73,698 early ballots. This year, their ballot requests dropped 35 percent to 47,547. This is not a large number of votes, but it is good news for Marshall."

In Texas, Catron said, "where Attorney General Ken Paxton is facing one of the weirdest candidates ever to run in the Lone Star State—James Talarico," the contest is nearly tied. "In 2022, they received 319,816 ballots. This year, as of October 24, the number had plummeted to 182,193, a decrease of 43 percent."

This writer for MHProNews posted the following regarding the above as a comment on Catron's insights (highlighting added).

> This is how good op-eds or other reporting is done. Key facts are linked up to their sources. The author, David Catron, is connecting the dots. Kudos! There is little doubt that polls can be used to discourage voters, as Rush Limbaugh observed years ago. Is this midterm winnable for the GOP and Constitutional Conservatives despite what left-leaning media or others may say? Of course. Every election always comes down to turnout and who votes. As an independent and Christian, I can't see how well-informed Christians can vote for a Democrat. Ex-President Barack Hussein Obama (D) has endorsed DSA candidate Angela "Angie" Nixon for the Senate in FL. CA Gov. Gavin Newsom (D) has said that the energy is with the DSA: "The DSA, the energy and the desire and demand for bold change, not incremental change, is very much going to be dominant. I mean, that's going to be a mainstream Democratic movement. Absolutely. No question about that." If someone needs motivation to vote, socialists recently came out and said: "We advocate the abolition of private ownership of housing and a fully socialized housing system." https://www.wnd.com/2026/10/whats-really-ballot-invisible-ink-your-private-property/ Marx, Engels and Lenin believed socialism was a phase to lead into communism. They were anti-religion: "The first requisite for the happiness of the people is the abolition of religion." https://lakelandgazette.info/news/2026/10/30/barack-obama-angie-nixon-democratic-socialists-of-america-dsa-private-property-ownership-and-midterm-voting/ If someone needs a motivation to vote, protecting your freedom of religion, your right to own and keep private property ought to be high on the list.

Marxist, socialist and communist efforts in the U.S. have existed for decades. When elections were approaching, MHProNews would report on the topic and why it mattered. Some 'blast from the past' examples that provided the sources and evidence follow. That said, it could be boiled down to this. Marx, Engels and Lenin believed in the 'dictatorship of the proletariat' as the Communist Party USA website stated. They were anti-religion. They were anti-private property. They were okay with compromises with capitalists while the transition into full socialism and then full communism was accomplished. See the articles linked above and more linked in the Sunday Weekly MHVille headlines for linked further below. Articles from dates as shown reflect reasons why socialism, communism, fascism and authoritarian systems are to be avoided and were contrary to the founding principles of the American Republic.

Joe Biden (D) was installed as president in 2021 following the disputed election of 2020. Kamala Harris (D) was deemed to be one of the most leftist senators in the U.S. Senate, as MHProNews reported before that election. Reporters and 'news and views' guys like yours truly should seek to tell it as the evidence shows it, regardless of if the articles reflect a popular view or not. Biden turned out to be far more leftist than many believed before 2021. MHProNews was one of the few places that showed the evidence that pointed to his openness to socialist positions. If 'affordability' is the question, it was during the Biden-Harris years that prices on housing and other costs of living items exploded. As MHProNews reported, high profile Democrat (then House Majority Whip James Clyburn (SC-D admitted on then MSNBC (since rebranded as MSNow) said Democrats 'knew' their policies would cause inflation, meaning, higher prices.

[caption id="attachment_183357" align="aligncenter" width="600"]

https://www.manufacturedhomepronews.com/straight-from-top-democrats-lips-to-your-eyes-ears-we-knew-recovery-plan-would-cause-inflation-thank-james-clyburn-for-some-straight-talk-sunday-weekly-mhville-headli/[/caption]

Days ago, the leftist publication The American Prospect (TAP) author Robert Kuttner frankly said that whoever wins control of Congress (meaning, if Democrats win) prices are still not going to come down. More specifically, to Kuttner's credit, he said: "The problem isn't just Trump-induced inflation. For ordinary working people, living standards have been dwindling for decades." "Researchers left, right, and center have confirmed these trends."

Kuttner elaborated: "in April 2026, reports, "Since 2017, average earnings have grown about 43 percent nationwide. Over the same period, home sale prices have increased 81 percent and rents 54 percent. The lowest-cost Silver health plan on the Affordable Care Act Marketplace has risen 77 percent.""

Kuttner admitted what MHProNews has periodically reported, namely, that ObamaCare drove up healthcare costs. As AMAC observed, in an ironic twist, ex-President Obama recently complained that his signature plan wasn't affordable without subsidies. Well, duh. Per AMAC's Shane Harris:

> Peak Irony: Obama Complains About Health Insurance Premium Spike That He Caused

Back to TAP's Kuttner (bold and highlighting added):

> Here's the punch line: All of these trends antedated Trump. Even if the Democrats take back Congress next week and win the presidency in 2028, end Trump's war, lower the price of crude oil, and restore Trump's budget cuts, *all of those trends will still be there.
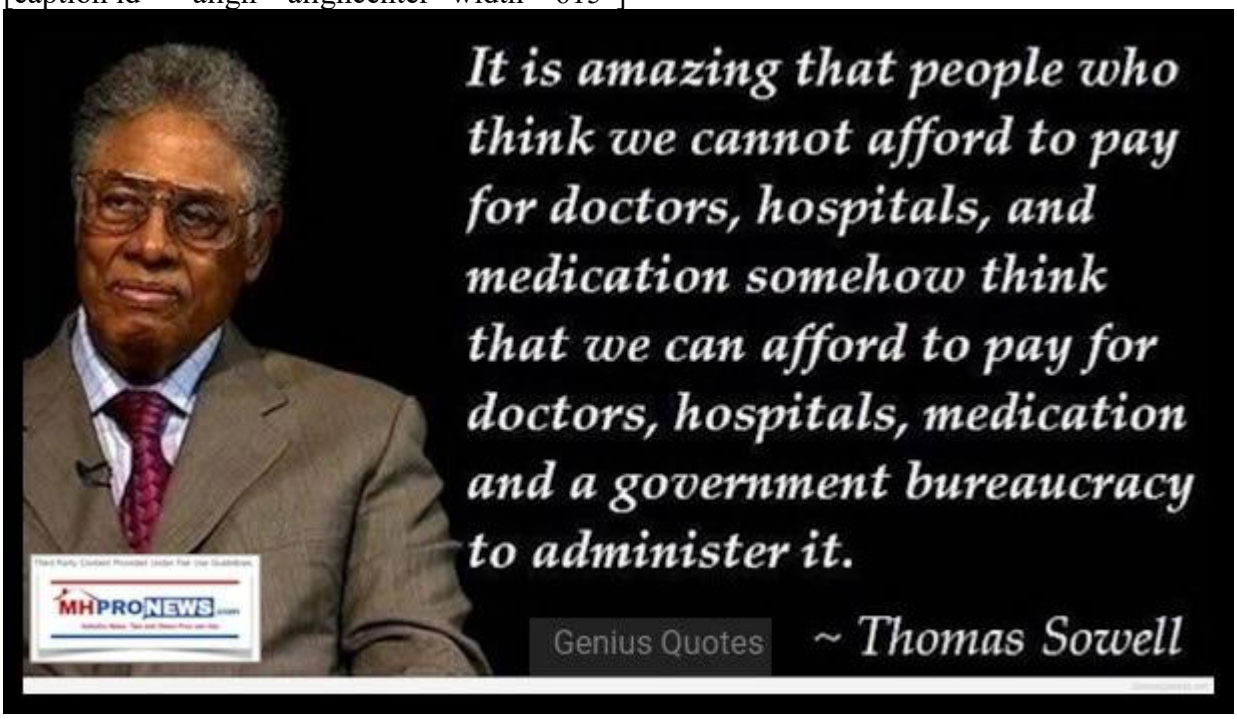
> Young people are especially whacked, between the costs of rentals, the burden of college debt, and the low pay for entry-level jobs. That's why the percentage of twenty-somethings who have moved back in with parents is at record levels. Almost half of recent graduates pay interest only on college debt and do not pay down principal, so the debt extends for decades.

Those points by Kuttner are largely accurate and are similar to what MHProNews has repeatedly reported, because it often comes down to basic economic principles. Here is a famous quote by self-described former socialist, economist Thomas Sowell.

[caption id="" align="aligncenter" width="615"]



"It is amazing that people who think we cannot afford to pay for doctors, hospitals, and medication somehow think that we can afford to pay for doctors, hospitals, medication and a government bureaucracy to administer it." - Thomas Sowell, Ph.D.

How that insight by Sowell relates to housing (or any other cost of living item) is found in the report linked below.

It has been said that people can vote their way into socialism but then you have to fight your way out of socialism (or communism, Marxism, authoritarianism etc.). Several of the articles for the week in review unpack recent insights and research that point to a similar conclusion, supported by third-party artificial intelligence (AI) fact-checks. If you haven't already read or shared them, the time is now to do so.

https://blog.joehuffman.org/2019/02/13/quote-of-the-day-larry-lambert/

The problem with socialism is that you can vote your way into it but you need to shoot your way out of it.
